Alexa Salazar

ASSOCIATE

Alexa Salazar thought she'd enjoy studying engineering in undergraduate school. An introductory class in accounting made her realize that her math and analytical skills were better suited for accountancy. She loves the "detective work" of audit and finding the right answer. Alexa is finishing her master's degree in tax, but her heart is with audit. She intends to pursue her CPA and is delighted to be at Weiss.

In her spare time, she enjoys running, working out, reading fantasy and science fiction, and spending time with her family.
